

An additional option for interactive Bible study

Dave Miles has faithfully offered a midweek Bible study at Layton for at least the last ten years. Like everyone else, he shifted gears last spring to an online format that welcomes participants from a variety of churches. The study offers a verse-by-verse exposition of scripture. The class is available via GoToMeeting each Wednesday evening, 6:00-7:00 PM. A link to the class can be found on the church’s website under “summer Bible study.” Looking for a Wednesday evening with study and fellowship—a lively connection with fellow Christians? Consider this option. Remember also our online prayer options, Monday evening, 6:30 PM, and Wednesday morning, 10:00 AM.

Two things make us keenly aware that COVID-19 is, and continues to be, a big deal: 1) We’re on Chicago’s bad list; and 2) the BIG 10 football season has been postponed. The church’s Re-Gathering Team meets virtually this afternoon to continue assessing the current status of COVID in our area and seeking to provide wise, thoughtful guidance for the weeks ahead. Thank you for your patience, cooperation, and ongoing engagement in the ministry and mission of LABC.

Three summer Bible study classes are available. Lee Colony is leading an “in-person” class on Thurs, 6:30 PM, “Heroes of the Old Testament, Pt. 2.” You’ll meet outside in front of the church.

Julia Ledford is teaching, “Enhancing our Life with God” via GoToMeeting on Tues evenings, 7:00 PM.

Shelby Alcott and Robin Russell lead a Sunday morning Bible study class each week, 9:00 AM, via GoToMeeting. Interactive connections are important.

Our crack technical team intends to make this meeting a helpful and informative time both for those in the house and those following online. Standby for further information this week.

We’ve got lots to talk about and you no doubt have questions about the days ahead. An option for online participation will be posted by midweek.
